SOUTH AUSTRALIAN FLYING FOOD SAFARI

BE inspired by the culinary secrets and fresh ingredients behind some of South Australia's most revered chefs and gourmet producers on a seven-day flying food safari from Travel Associates.

This gourmet food-inspired trip includes two nights accommodation at Kangaroo Island, Eyre Peninsula and the Barossa Valley.

The safari starts in exotic Kangaroo Island where guests meet artisan food producers who've been at the forefront of cultivating the island's reputation for excellence. Guests then head to the tuna capital of the world and Australia's seafood frontier, Port Lincoln, to enjoy seafood fresh from the wild seas of Eyre Peninsula. The tour finishes with two days in the Barossa Valley, where you'll clink glasses with some of the world's finest winemakers.

Tour highlights include travel in your own private luxury aircraft, visits to KI Abalone, Penfolds for the 'Taste of Grange' experience, the Coffin Bay Oyster Farm, and a tour of Barossa Valley's Food Forest.

Prices start from $9,995* per person (based on group of eight) and include six nights accommodation, escorted touring program, most meals, activities as per the itinerary, on-tour transport including air charter between Adelaide / Kingscote / Port Lincoln and Gawler and tour guide (local SA gourmand Mark Gleeson).

Airfares to start tour and end not included.
