CRUISE THE BATTLEFIELDS OF THE PACIFIC

Relive the epic history of the battlefields of the Pacific on a 13 night cruise from Noumea to Rabaul aboard the Oceanic Discoverer with Travel Associates.

Guided by expert military historians Richard Frank and Mat McLachlan, passengers will hear the amazing true stories of some of the most famous Allied engagements of World War II at stops including the Solomon Islands, Santa Ana and Guadalcanal.

Travellers can also see Kennedy Island, named in honour of John F. Kennedy who swam ashore with his crew after their torpedo boat was destroyed, and Million Dollar Point on Espiritu Santo, the site of one of the largest US bases in the South Pacific.

Keen snorkelers can find out over the discarded US military jeeps and boats that were dumped into the sea at the war's end and certified divers will have the opportunity to explore the SS President Coolidge, which sank off Espiritu Santo.

Prices start at $11,390* per person twin share and include 13 nights accommodation on board the Oceanic Discoverer in a main deck category A cabin, a main deck cabin, all main meals and entertainment on board, complimentary coffees and teas, port charges, government fees, lectures and on shore guided expeditions.

This offer is available until September 30, 2011, unless sold out, for travel on March 4, 2011.

*Price is subject to change and availability at the time of booking.
